Belgian metal band EVIL INVADERS announce their fourth studio album, Weaponized Chaos, set to release on February 19, 2027, via Napalm Records! The diversity of the songs and the band's matured sound serve as an undeniable proof of their potential. EVIL INVADERS stand apart from their generation through exceptional songwriting, relentless live energy and a genuine, uncompromising attitude, all of which is evident on the groovy new single entitled "D.S.S. (Death Strikes Suddenly" that is out now with an official performance video! High-pitched screams, relentless rhythms and shredding set the scene for the track that showcases EVIL INVADERS' unique metal sound that balances between high-speed Thrash and hook-driven Heavy Metal, with the multifaceted vocal performance shining alongside the skillful instrumentation.

EVIL INVADERS on "D.S.S. (Death Strikes Suddenly)":

"Slayer, Megadeth, Exodus, Overkill? A hard hitting thrash anthem that will kick you right in the face. It'll take you back to the pure roots of thrash metal with a lot of twists and turns. Resulting in a solo battle between Max and Joe before the last chorus kicks in."

EVIL INVADERS on the new album:
"This is our most versatile album to date, and we couldn't be more excited for you to hear it!

This album has everything: speed and savage Thrash to crushing grooves, catchy melodic Heavy Metal, progressive twists and atmospheric passages. This album takes you on a ride through different tempos, moods and shades of our sound. No two tracks are quite alike, yet they all belong together.

Choosing the singles was a real challenge because every track brings something different to the table, and we genuinely felt each one was strong enough to stand on its own.

When we finished the mixes, everyone in the band and our close circle had a different favourite track. To us, that says everything about the album: there's something here for everyone, and we're curious to see which songs hit you the hardest.

We can't wait for you to dive in, discover your favourites and let us know which tracks stand out to you!"

Pre-Order Your Copy of Weaponized Chaos NOW!

Produced once again by Francesco Paoli of Fleshgod Apocalypse, EVIL INVADERS' first full-length release since the 2022 offering Shattering Reflection brings together two clearly defined sides of EVIL INVADERS. The Thrash side of Weaponized Chaos delivers the kind of precision, speed and aggression the genre demands. The title track, "Weaponized Chaos", combines rapid-fire riffing with technically demanding guitar solos from Max Mayhem, while "Dreamstate" attacks from another angle, pairing Senne Jacobs' hard-hitting drums with dense guitar work and Joe Van Audenhove's shifting vocals as it examines the pressure, repetition and sensory overload of modern life. But Weaponized Chaos is not a record built around speed alone. EVIL INVADERS give equal weight to the melodic side of Heavy Metal, with strong hooks, dynamic arrangements and songs designed to stick after the riffs stop. "The Wait" slows the pace and opens up a more melodic and emotional side of the band, while "Forever By My Side" strips things back even further. Written as a tribute to former guitarist Sam Lemmens, who sadly passed away recently and who was part of the band from 2011 to 2015, the song replaces the band's usual attack with a slower, haunting arrangement and deeply personal lyrics. That contrast runs throughout the album. "Bloodstains" draws on horror imagery, "Drenched In Disdain" moves from Joeri Van De Schoot's atmospheric bass introduction into a heavy track about social isolation, and "Fear" returns to the album's broader themes of misinformation, anxiety, polarization and hatred. The album begins with the instrumental "The Final Dawn", setting up the first full-speed assault, and closes with

"Lucid Dreaming". The final track was written by in 2014, giving the album a direct connection to EVIL INVADERS' past.

Rather than simply recreating the sound of classic metal, EVIL INVADERS take the elements that made Thrash and Heavy Metal so effective; speed, aggression, memorable riffs, melody, dynamics and larger-than-life songwriting, and put them together in their own way. The result is a record that can move from a full-throttle Thrash attack to a melodic Heavy Metal hook without losing its identity!

EVIL INVADERS Live 2027

EVIL INVADERS' musical approach also carries over to the stage. After years of touring and appearances alongside acts including Dirkschneider and Sepultura, the band returns in 2027 with a renewed live show built around the same contrast as the new album: speed, heaviness, melody and songs made to hit hard in a large room. The big stages are calling.
